Gathering news, advertising and photographs, then correlating these functions to appear in bound book form, takes cooperation, understanding, work, creative ability and TIME. Putting together a yearbook is no easy task, but these 20 students on the Carmel High School El Padre staff, aided by advisor Nellie Ryder, put their hearts and knowledge to work and efficiently shipped copy off to the publisher prior to deadline . . . a responsibility fulfilled. El Padre staff above (l-r) are: Randy Sinclair, Cathy Spindler, Lynn Vandervort, Nancy Otter, Karen Busic, Kristin Adams Marcia Reade, Dale Butler, Scott Conway, Carol Jensen, Tony Tersol, Tiger Steele, Pixi Brewster, Darla Calabrese, Ann Whitman, Cindy Johnson, Susanne Jacobsen (editor), Pam Kelsey, Maryanna Branco and Marjorie Carter.

Carmelite Rescues Downed Pilot

Cmdr. R. L. Pelton who lives at 12th and Mission was flying the helicopter for the U.S. Naval Auxiliary Landing Field in Monterey which rescued a downed Air Force jet pilot from the ocean about 28 miles southwest of Monterey Monday.

Air Force Capt. Bernard R. Hollenbeck Jr., of Fresno, received a bad gash in his right arm when he had to eject from his disabled F102. He was unable to use the sling which had been lowered to him from Pelton's helicopter and crewman AC2

Miké Bobay was then lowered to the water to help Captain Hollenbeck into the rescue sling.

Five other aircraft, two Coast Guard boats and their cutter Cape Wash plus two Army Transportation Corps Q boats also responded to the rescue which was effected about two hours after Hollenbeck parachuted into the 53-degree water.

Cmdr. Pelton is also scoutmaster for Carmel Boy Scout Troop 32 which is sponsored by the Carmel Rotary Club.

Little League Senior Division Tryouts April 21 and 28

The Carmel Little League, after 12 successful seasons, has decided to expand its activities to include the many 13, 14, and 15-year-old boys for whom there is no available program.

For the first time the Board of Directors has been granted a charter to form, within the framework of its own Little League, a Senior Division known as Carmel Seniors. In 1968 this program will be played at the Middle School, hopefully this year Little League will raise enough money to make its own facilities large enough to handle both programs in 1969.

Played under rules exactly like high school baseball, (rubber cleats only, however), the games will probably start just after the first of June and continue into late July. Tryouts have been set for April 21, and 28, both Sundays at the Junior varsity field at the Middle School. Sign-ups (one parent and a birth certificate please) will be handled at that time.

Naturally adult help will be needed; managers, coaches, and sponsors are invited to contact Art Willert, 624-5838 or Pat Dormody, 624-1151 for information.

Carmel Valley boys are also welcome to join this senior league.

Large Turnout To Welcome New Carmel Council And Mayor

One of the largest crowds thus far sat in the City Hall chambers Tuesday evening . . . this time not to talk about ordinances and such, but to welcome the new City Council and to find out who the next Mayor of Carmel would be.

After the formalities of swearing in the new city officials the Council adjourned to an executive session to elect the Mayor. The more than 50 persons sat patiently trying to predict who the Council would elect. Forty-five minutes later the councilman filed back to their seats and announced that Bernard Laiolo would serve for the next two years as Mayor of Carmel.

Mayor Laiolo, owner of Village Electric and resident of the City for over 20 years, received 1058 votes of the 1537 cast.

The new Mayor's first action called for nominations for vice Mayor. Councilman Herbert Blanks was nominated and elected to this post. The Mayor next appointed his Commissioners: Fire Commissioner, Eben Whittlesey; Police Commissioner, William Sefton; Public Works, Frank Falge; Health and Welfare, Herbert Blanks; Lands and Improvements, Sefton and Falge, and Administration, Laiolo and Blanks.

The Council paid tribute to Steve Grant who served as Mayor for the past two years and Councilman for the previous two years. During his reign, according to the Resolution of Appreciation to

All-Year-School Committee To Be Appointed By Board

The Carmel Unified School Board voted last night to appoint a committee composed of District staff and lay persons to study the feasibility of an all-year school to solve housing expansion problems.

The district superintendent will select a school administrator, an elementary, a Middle School, and a high school teacher to serve on the committee. The board will select three parents, one from each of the same levels, and a person without children in school, to make up the other four members of the committee.

Bay School Reconstruction

Daniel James of Carmel Highlands made an eloquent plea that "her tattered ensign should wave over the present Bay School," the old "little old red school house" on Route 1 which has been threatened with replacement or abandonment since being condemned by the state as an earthquake hazard to the nursery school children using it. Mr. James is a member of the Carmel Riviera advisory committee.

River School parents were invited to have lunch with their children by Principal James Halcomb, while visiting.

THE CHAMBER SYMPHONY OF PHILADELPHIA under maestro Anshel Bruslow will be presented Friday, April 26th, by the Carmel Music Society at Sunset Auditorium as the sixth concert in its 41st series. Though only in its second season, the group of 36 virtuosi is widely hailed as America's first permanent chamber orchestra. Attorneys Meet In Carmel Monterey and Santa Cruz area attorneys will gather in Carmel on Saturday, May 4, for a State Bar lecture program, "Preparing and Examining Witnesses," to be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the La Playa Hotel.

The program is being presented by the State Bar Committee on Continuing Education of the Bar through facilities of University of California Extension and in cooperation with the Monterey and Santa Cruz County Bar Associations, whose education committee chairmen, attorneys William Burleigh of Carmel and Nancy C. Kepple of Watsonville, are in charge of program arrangements.

SECRET WAR OF HARRY FRIG... starring Paul Newman and his cold blue eyes. It's about the funny "going-ons" of a World War II soldier.

GUESS WHO'S COMING TO DINNER, Spencer Tracy in his final work and last teaming with Katherine Hepburn. Poitier's performance capped a remarkable year for him.

THE GRADUATE, interesting, if not completely compelling, comedy. Dustin Hoffman is excellent in the title role. Anne Bancroft is extremely good as the woman who seduces him and Katharine Ross is attractive as her daughter with whom Hoffman falls in love. The picture argues that all over

THEATRE REVIEW

30 are dishonest, corrupt and unthinking.

GRAND PRIX... a beautiful film cinematographically speaking. Stars actually race at high speeds while filming this magnificent picture in 70 mm film. Full stereophonic sound adds to the impact. Exclusive Monterey County showing.

HEAT OF THE NIGHT... Rod Steiger won an Academy Award for this one, justifiably so. A young negro policeman is picked up for murder in a Southern town, and ends up helping convict the true murderer.

BONNIE AND CLYDE... It's here again, adding more influence on the fashion parade of today. Full of murder and bloodshed. Good for the sadistic.

BOCCACCIO 70... stars

Sophia Loren and Romy Schneider. A mystery.

PLANET OF THE APES... An astronaut returns to earth after several hundred years to find that the world is dominated by Apes. Make up is marvelous and the idea is scary. The cast is great.

THE SCALP HUNTERS... "I hunt scalp hunters," says Burt Lancaster starring in this rather different Western.

JACK OF DIAMONDS... From Paris to New York he takes only the best jewels and the most beautiful women. This is George Hamilton?

BUNNY LAKE IS MISSING... the great Otto Preminger production starring Carol Lynley and Laurence Olivier. A Scotland Yard detective unravels a tense situation.

Pine Needles

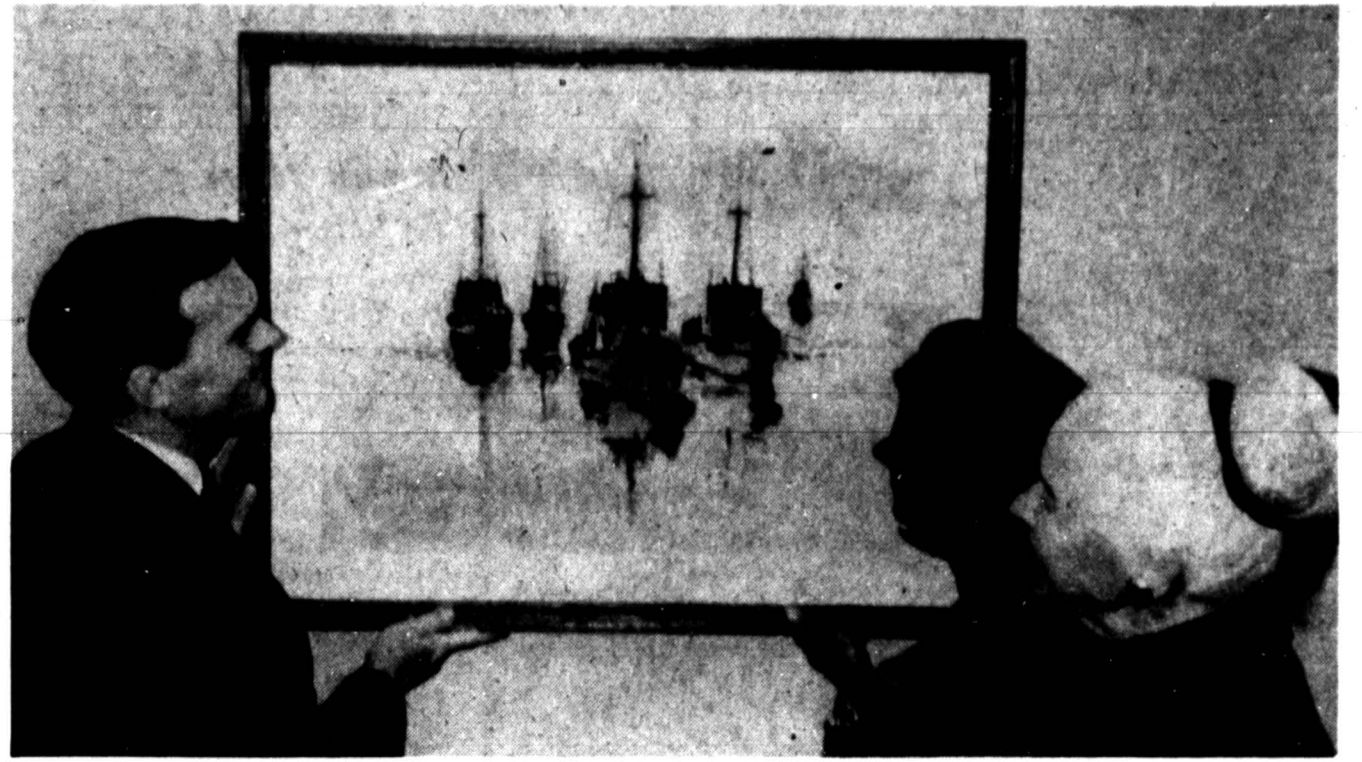

Daisy Bostick

A magic name which brings back memories of old Carmel is that of Daisy Bostick who wrote regularly about early settlers for the Pine Cone.

Unfortunately, Daisy is not well and has been confined to the hospital since January. We may be running some excerpts from a book she wrote and had published back in 1925 "Carmel at Work and at Play" very soon.

FOUR ENGLISH CITIES

Are the homes of some of the Pine Cone subscribers.

Mrs. Jack Miller and Mrs. William Ballard look on admiringly as Carmel artist, Ed Norton Ward, straightens his water-color, one of the paintings to be shown at the Delta Gamma wine tasting and Art Show to be held Sunday afternoon from 5:30 to 7:30. It will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hazelwood of Pebble Beach. Other artists whose paintings will be shown are Keith Lindberg, Linford Donovan, Beatrice Wheelock, Frank June and Mary Agnes Lansdowne. The affair benefits the blind.

State and Local Taxes League of Women Voters Topic

Local members of the League of Women Voters and interested visitors will meet Friday morning at 9:45 a.m. at Carmel Valley Manor to study local and state taxes, and discuss what, if anything, can be done to make them more fair and equitable.

New members from Carmel of the League of Women Voters are Mrs. Mari A. Dudley, Mrs. Helen P. Robinson, Dr. Mira Talbot, and Mrs. Raymond C. Fisher. Mrs. Dorothy Smythe was recently reinstated after her return from England.

The League is a non-partisan group devoted to studying local, as well as state and national problems which may be solved by political action.

In a recent study of Peninsula public assistance programs, members came to see a need for a family planning program with discussions initiated by the Welfare Department and information and supplies available from doctors under Medi-Cal.

They saw a need for a new, aggressive effort by welfare workers, especially trained, to find sufficient foster homes, especially for teen-agers.

The re-establishment of well-baby clinics was a pressing need seen. Members were astonished to learn that the Public Health Department had closed the clinics in all parts of the county when it become difficult to find doctors to serve in some areas and decided it would be unfair to continue some clinics and not others.

Frequent reevaluation of local needs and current programs, including the amount of grants was considered advisable, in order to avoid state and federal programs. Some programs, of course, like migrant labor require state of federal help.

Visitors are always welcome at the monthly Carmel unit study group help usually on the second Friday of each month at the Carmel Valley Manor at 9:45 a.m. General luncheon meetings of all Peninsula groups are held at the Monterey Youth Center on third Thursdays.

Pianist Performs

An informal gathering to hear a preview of the piano program given by William Irvick yesterday at Carmel Foundation Town House, met at the home of Mrs. M. H. Shutes last week.

The pianist played selections by Mozart, Chopin, Ravel and of his own composition for the group, most of whom were musical performers, music teachers or music lovers.

Mrs. Shutes, who plays the viola in the Monterey County Symphony, is program chairman for the Carmel Foundation Wednesday afternoon programs which bring pleasure to so many Carmelites.

Republican Women's Luncheon

"A Funny Thing Happened on My Way to the Spontaneous Riots" — I Tripped Over the Plot" will be the subject of Mrs. Joyce Wenger's luncheon address Monday, April 22, at the Beach Club in Pebble Beach, under the sponsorship of the Carmel and Monterey Republican Women's Clubs. A social hour at 11:30 will precede the 12:30 luncheon.

Mrs. Wenger, of Pasadena, is the co-author of "Pass the Poverty Please," a witty book which punctures bureaucratic balloons. She is active in school and community affairs and California politics: member of the Republican State Central Committee, first woman president of the 83-year old Pasadena Republican Club, vice-president of the 27,000 member Los Angeles County Federation of Republican Women in charge of Campaign and Precinct Activities 1965-67. Christening Reception

Kevin, four weeks old son of Jerry and Barbara Winters of Crest Road, Pebble Beach, was christened last weekend at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, the Reverend Walter Grumm, officiating. Godfather for the baby was Gordon Reid of Carmel, and godmother, Mrs. Mildred Bishop of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

At the reception which followed at the Winters' home were the baby's grandmother, Mrs. George Gnau of Paradise Valley, Arizona and her daughter, Miss Laura Gnau. Among others present were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spellar, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burch, and Gael Baldock of Pebble Beach, Miss Beverly Broome and Miss Sioux Scott, and Mr. Walter Coker of Carmel.

Champagne punch and little cakes in the form of little rabbits were served.

Beauty By The Sea

Glamorous and vivacious Joan Willingham, who recently opened her shop "Beauty By the Sea" over the Laky Gallery on San Carlos between 5th and 6th, is adding to the beauty of Carmel these days.

Mrs. Willingham, a specially trained beauty consultant, who claims "No one need ever look 40" after using her treatments, hails from Dallas, Texas.

She is offering complimentary facials to introduce her method.

Carmelites Search for Dogwood in the Spring

Carmel artist Linford Donovan will take her sketchbook along as she accompanies her husband, Captain Robert Beebe on a cross country drive to Norfolk, Virginia. There the ketch, "Passage Maker," which he designed has been berthed since they sailed it there through the Panama Canal last year when they visited Expo '67 in Montreal. They leave tomorrow.

On the Treetop

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Winaus of Carmel became the parents of a baby girl, Carlotta, on April 8th. Mark Allen is the name given to the little boy born to Mr. and Mrs. George Steven Hazen of Point Sur Station, Big Sur on April 5.

Islands of the Pacific

The Matt Jenkins are waiting with interest to see the underwater pictures they took in the islands of the South Pacific recently.

Since the boat has been sold, Captain Beebe must check it over, re-rig it and pick up his personal gear. The ketch, a rigged motor sailer with many innovations, was designed by Captain Beebe, a naval architect, and completed in Singapore under his supervision five years ago.

While they are in the East, the Beebes will take a side trip to New England in hopes of finding dogwood in bloom.

Moon Chapel Scroll Done By Carmel Artist

A series of 15 large scrolls by artist Louisa Jenkins of Carmel designed for the first chapel on the moon will be given their premiere showing on Sunday, April 21, at St. Andrew's Priory, the Benedictine ranch-monastery in Valermo.

Miss Jenkins, internationally known mosaicist and ceramist, turned to another medium to create the 3'x6' scrolls which she has titled "The Stations of Life," based on the philosophy of Teilhard de Chardin. The final scroll is 6' x 6'.

"Because of the problem of transportation to the moon, I decided to use acrylics applied over many layers of white Japanese paper on scrolls. These are light in weight and easily rolled for packing for the journey into space," explained Miss Jenkins.

"Once they have arrived at their destination, they then can be placed on the chapel walls in a more permanent form."

The moon chapel has been designed by young and imaginative California architect Mark Mills, and is fully illustrated in a recent (Nov. '67) issue of the Liturgical Arts Magazine. Mr. Mills is Miss Jenkins' son-in-law.

The moon chapel will be located in a man-conditioned living area under the moon's crust, suspended from a concrete ring in the crust ceiling, and a web of light cables is covered with opaque plastic film. A solar eye lens on top of the moon crust ring filters natural light into the chapel and permits observation of celestial bodies.

Miss Jenkins now works out of her studio home in Carmel and was awarded a Doctor of Laws Degree, honoris causa, by St. Mary's College of Notre Dame, Indiana, in recognition of her significant influence on liturgical art.

Art Association Shows Edith Dinkin

The Edith Dinkin, one man show at the Carmel Art Association this month is a delight to see.

Her show displays the work of an artist with versatility, humor and ability. It is so varied it might be the work of several artists. Her still lifes are simple and pure and could be exercises in line, form and balance. Her abstractions have depth and subtle color variations and are better than most, if you care for abstractions.

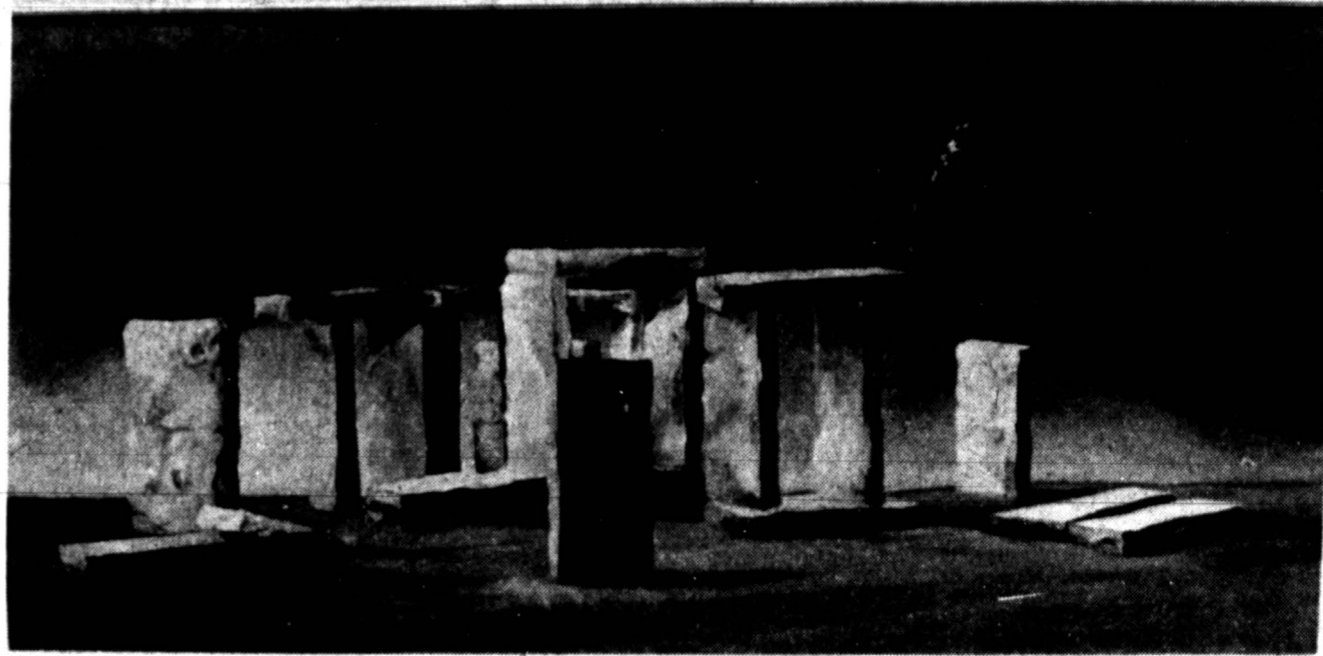

The arrangements of dominoes in one painting, hanging next to a similar arrangement of rocks, akin to Stonehenge in another makes a startling and imaginative contrast in surrealism.

Miss Dinkin says "The beauty of an object lies in itself; not in its environment. I try to paint only the essence, the unique quality."

The artist has many artistic talents, window display being one of them. She has maintained her own studio gallery in the Carmel Craft Studios since 1957.

Carmel Artists At Santa Cruz

Carmel and vicinity is well represented in the "Thirty-Eighth Annual State wide Exhibition," and the gala preview of the annual art show, was well attended at the Santa Cruz Art League galleries Saturday evening.

Mildred D. Schmidtman, of the Carmel Riviera, won second award, in the "Portrait" division of her striking "Portrait of Dorothy." She also won the portrait award in the 1966 show, on her "Louisiana Boy" and was a judge on last year's "Statewide." Another entry "Path to the Sea" is also shown — a study in oils from Point Libos.

Ralph Jacobs won the third award in the portrait division, on his lovely study "Classic Nude."

Bernice Fouratt won the second award on a skillfully executed "Pine Cones" with an oriental touch, in the "Landscape" division.

Helen Dooley received an honorable mention on her freely painted "Boat Patterns" a watercolor in the "Seascape" division.

Other area exhibitors in the various divisions were Girard Aken, Helen M. Barker, Jeanne Bellmer, Phyllis Calley, Lucille Lyon Herbert, Vera Jackson, Kay Rodgers Gary H. Tao, William J. Verdult, all of Carmel.

It is a very colorful show, will be shown at the S.C.A.L. Galleries at 526 Broadway, Santa Cruz during the month of April and well worth a trip, especially now when the whole country side is so beautiful.

Seavey To Speak At Town House

Kent Seavey, curator of the Carmel Museum of Art will give an illustrated talk on the Monterey Peninsula Artistic Heritage at The Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday, April 24 at 2:30 p.m.

Tea will be served following the program and all interested persons are welcome.

Hawaiian King Kalakaua entertains Joseph Strong and Robert Louis Stevenson during their visit in 1889. The photograph was furnished by the Carmel Museum of Art.

At The Royal Hawaiian Palace In 1889

by Betty Lochrie Hoag for the Carmel Museum of Art

In 1889 Hawaii's last king, the charming Kalakaua, entertained an early Monterey artist, Joe Strong, and his famous father-in-law, Scottish author Robert Louis Stevenson.

Ten years earlier Strong had been a member of Monterey's first art colony. There he fell in love with Isobel, daughter of Fanny Osborne with whom R.L.S. had become infatuated in France. Stevenson followed Fanny to Monterey to court her while she obtained a divorce. The older couple strongly disapproved of Isobel's marrying a "poor artist," so the young couple eloped and were married in November of 1879 — only a few weeks before Stevenson and Fanny's own marriage. (The Carmel Museum of Art on Dolores Street is currently exhibiting Joe Strong's charming oil portrait of his bride standing with a deer in the forest of Pacific Grove on their wedding day).

At the time of this photograph, the Strongs had been living in Hawaii for six years, both of them favorites of the king. Joe was popular as a portrait artist, and Isobel had been made a "lady companion" to the Royal Order of Oceania because of the art work King Kalakaua had commissioned her to do: a design for the Hawaiian flag.

Warehouse Welcomes W'Rings

We're certainly glad to have Vic Knight as a neighbor but we're a little concerned about his state of mind. We always thought Vic was smarter than we were and wouldn't let himself get involved in the high rent district. — The Warehouse — near Ring's.

The Steinbeck Theater Welcomes Rings

Now that Vic Knight has ceased his peregrinating around town and gone back to work as our next door neighbor we guess we'll have to set up a theatre — dinner combo with him too. The only problem — it might cut down on our popcorn sales.

HORN TOOTIN'

So many people — well the bread man and our mother-in-law — have been urging us to get back in business that we have yielded to the unprecedented demand.

We are starting our third coffee shop venture at the old Palace location alongside the Steinbeck Theater on Cannery Row.

Here we have the cultural advantage of being able to buy spaghetti wholesale from the Warehouse and selling retail at Ring's, also being able to put the bee on Ag Shea for rent money in case of necessity. Another advantage is that we can go to good nearby restaurants for a meal when we get sick of our own cooking. Probably we can even learn a bit about art by browsing in Livingston's Gallery. Another possibility is that we can win a few bucks off of Wes Dodge shaking dice. We aren't banking on that.

Anyway we do hope that Ring's will fit into Cannery Row and that it will be a fun spot for those who are willing to put up with our well known Under No Management way of doing business.

Thomas R. Stanford

School Psychologist At Work

At last the Carmel School District has its own school psychologist, Mr. Thomas R. Sanford, stationed at the District offices. This has been far more helpful than the previous partial services contracted from the Salinas County offices.

Mr. Sanford tries to spend a day in each of the five schools. He counsels youngsters, administers individual and group achievement and intelligence tests, and is responsible for the special services programs which include health, the mentally retarded, educationally handicapped, and remedial speech.

Roger Stephens Promoted

Roger D. Stephens, son of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Roy A. Stephens of 3021 Birdrock Rd., Pebble Beach, has been promoted to captain in the U. S. Air Force.

Captain Stephens, a navigator at Clark AFB, Philippines, is a member of the Air Weather Service.

Captain Stephens' wife is the former Arden J. Alford from Canada.

The old concept of students sitting rigidly in their seats does not meet modern educational goals. Students need to be self-directive, to be able to direct others, and in general to fully develop the qualities of leadership in a controlled but active atmosphere.

Later we discussed the recent book "Reality Therapy" by William Glasser, M.D., whom Mr. Sanford knows. Glasser advances the theory that irresponsible behavior is based on the inability to love and be loved, to feel worthwhile to oneself and others. Glasser describes his work with delinquents which requires intense personal involvement, facing reality, rejecting irresponsible behavior, and learning better ways to behave. Mr. Sanford feels that Dr. Glasser has made a welcome contribution to psychiatry with his concept of personal responsibility. Too frequently children and adults blame others for their problems.

He cooperates with Mr. Jay Criddle who plans a parent conference group at Middle School which meets periodically to discuss special problems of teen-ager children.

Plans for this year have included a survey of current guidance practices, more comprehensive use of group achievement and intelligence test results and the development of an in-service program in guidance for Carmel Unified teachers.

Mr. Sanford has a Master's degree in Education from U.S.C. In addition he has completed all the requirements for a Ph.D. in Educational Psychology except the dissertation. He was formerly the coordinator of special services in El Dorado Union High School and Placerville Elementary Schools. Prior to that he was school psychologist in Azusa for five years.

In answer to Pine Cone publisher Allman Cook's observation that many young people have little respect for teachers who do not discipline them, Mr. Sanford replied that it depends upon what you mean by discipline.

More Helpful Hints from PG&E:

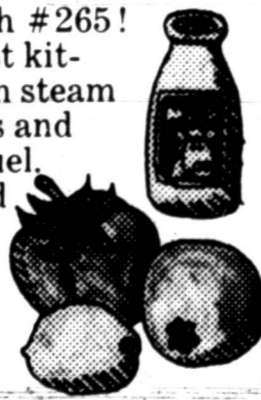

"Clip and Save"

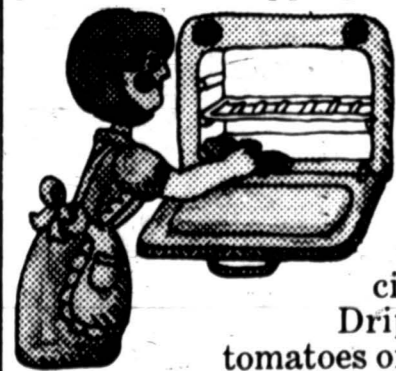

Old wives' tale #265:

"Cooking fuel causes kitchen grime."

Down the drain with #265! Steam's the cause of most kitchen grime. Grease-laden steam coats your ceilings, walls and curtains — not cooking fuel. So keep your pots covered while cooking and keep your kitchen cleaner.

And here's a tip from PG&E home economists to help keep your oven clean. When baking pies, cut the top crust a half inch larger than the pie plate. Tuck it under and scallop the edge. High scallops hold in the juice. But just in case, put a piece of slightly larger foil on the lower rack to catch the drippings.

Another way to keep your range looking like new is to wipe up spills immediately, especially acid foods. Drippings of milk, tomatoes or fruit will discolor porcelain enamel if left too long.

Also, don't use scouring pads or harsh abrasives on porcelain. They make tiny scratches.

Also, you'll do a lot less scouring if you use a timer. It'll remind you when to turn down the heat. So, no more burning and spilling over.

Another way to prevent spillovers is to use a roomy pot. Gives moisture a chance to bubble up without going over the edge.

Interested in getting some new recipes and cooking tips? Come to a PG&E Cooking School. Expert Home Economists will show you how to manage your kitchen and have fun while doing it.

Watch for announcements in your local newspaper. It's free!

PG&E service is a bigger family bargain than ever — with six rate reductions in gas and electric rates in the past five years.

Retired?

Now you can get the best buy we've offered in 31 years.

Starting immediately, how would you like a guaranteed yearly income for life of 9% of the price you pay for an annuity?

That's just about what an Equitable Immediate Life Annuity can give a man in his middle sixties, (not quite as much for a woman because women live longer.)

This 9%* is derived from both principal and interest. But you don't have to worry about outliving your principal. Equitable guarantees your annuity income for as long as you live. Even if you live to 100 or more, your annuity checks will keep coming in.

No other type of investment can provide such a guarantee. What's more, nothing can ever reduce the income that's written into your Equitable annuity contract which, today, gives you the most advantageous buy we've been able to offer at retirement in 31 years.

At your age, what's the lifetime income you can get? (The older you are, the higher the yearly income—about 13%* for a man of 75.) Send in the coupon below and we'll give you all the answers.

Reviews for Young Readers

By Allene Premier

Recently some of us were fortunate enough to hear Mr. Ezra Jack Keats speak and show films about two of his best-known picture books — WHISTLE FOR WILLIE and THE SNOWY DAY. He was awarded the Caldecott Medal in 1963 for the latter. Following the films of his books, he gave the children an opportunity to ask questions. One boy asked, "Why do you always draw Negro children?" Mr. Keats replied that when he was growing up, all he remembers seeing were white children in the illustrations and he felt that Negro children had beautiful qualities which were not being portrayed. We have searched out some of the books in this library which deal with inter-racial themes or which have illustrations portraying colored and white children, and would like to share them with you in this column. Some of these books are new, some are not. But we will try to give a brief summary of some of them, although this is only a sampling.

LIONS IN THE WAY, by Bella Rodman gets its title from a Negro spiritual which goes as follows: "I thought I heard them say; There were lions in the way; I don't expect to stay; Much longer here. . . ." This is the story of eight students in Jameson, Tennessee who are chosen to enroll in Jameson's segregated high school. It is fiction, but it represents the real experiences of people in this struggle for justice.

PUNKIN SUMMER, by John Burrell is a gentler story than the above. It tells about Punkin, a ten-year-old white boy and his young Negro friend. Punkin's family is prejudiced, but the children remain friends. The adults learn that color difference is not so important.

DURANGO STREET, by Frank Bonham tells of Rufus Henry, on parole from the reformatory, and faced with the choice of becoming a member of the all-Negro gang in his neighborhood and violating his parole, or becoming a victim of the gang. It is an exciting and powerful novel.

Louisa Shotwell's ROSEVELT GRADY is a warm story about a nine-year-old Negro boy, the son of a migrant worker. Roosevelt dreams of the day when his family will be able to settle in one place and he can remain in the same school. Through his efforts, the family is finally able to live and work in one place.

In the picture books, there are some by Ezra Jack Keats, such as the ones mentioned above, and also JOHN HENRY, and PETER'S CHAIR. Betty Horvath's HOORAY FOR JASPER is the story of how Jasper grows up by performing a brave deed. CITY RHYTHMS by Ann Grifalconi is also a picture book, which follows the experiences and activities of a young Negro boy as he discovers the rhythm of the city and reproduces them on his own instruments.

There are lots more and for the next few weeks they will be set aside near the new books on the desk in the children's room.

"Even if the effectiveness of these neo-mercantilist infringements upon the international movement of people and capital was assured, the loss of freedom would be too high a price to pay for the preservation of the system of fixed exchange rates and a dollar price for gold that is pegged at an artificially low level."

Carmel Travelers

Gilbert Boyer Jr. In India

We left Teheran on Christmas Day. We had roast goose on Christmas Eve, but didn't even touch a drop of alcohol. New Year's Day we spent in Kandahar, Afghanistan, without a celebration of any kind except a hashish party (I don't smoke it — haven't even tried the stuff) around a fire in an oilcan stove, wood being expensive in Afghanistan. I supplied the music on my flute. After getting new visas in Kabul we took the bus trip to the border crossing near Peshawar, Pakistan, and finally got out of the bitter cold of the high plateaus where we had been living since December 10th. We went through the Khyber Pass — very impressive. In this time we have travelled quite quickly into the strange lands of Pakistan and India where one doesn't know what he sees, thinks, hears, or should think. It isn't so strange really, — I mean people still have the right number of eyes, legs, arms, and noses (usually), but I'll give you an example — the rickshaw boys. They just won't leave you alone. Even if you are making a window shopping trip in a bazaar, they ride along side.

In Agra, where the Taj Mahal is as beautiful as its supposed to be and more, I decided not to get angry with one rickshaw boy, but to ignore him as we walked through the bazaar full of the beautiful and famous Agra silk fabrics. He was still with us as we went into our hotel, one and one half miles later.

Sometimes we do want a rickshaw when we go from the railway station to a youth hostel or to a tourist attraction some distance away. Then you have to haggle with the rickshaw boy. First he will tell that it is twice as far away as it really is and start his price at ten times the normal price. When the price comes close to being reasonable you still have to watch because he will take you to an extra stop, a wedding, a funeral, a monument and explaining, then charge you extra for his services as guide.

The rickshaw boys are not the only ones. When we get out of a train with our knapsacks we are descended upon by flocks of hotel representatives, who yell, push, and scream the advantages of their hotels at you. They don't let you say a word or move a foot and you are left only the choices of anger or a very, very cold arrogance. No matter how hard you try to be sweet and kind and nice, you are pushed to this choice of supercilious arrogance or bluntness. Politeness doesn't seem to work.

But aside from that, I wish I could buy all the wares for sale here — gems, precious, semi-precious and decorative, silver and gold and brass work, filigree, enamel work, cotton prints, silk, ivory and wood carving. Even if you don't bargain it's all cheap by our standards. But we go crazy looking at the beautiful things, unable to buy because of money and because we couldn't even carry it with us. Our full knapsacks weigh about sixty pounds each and we carry a basket full of cooking ware and food and a handbag with my flute and books.

Happy Birthday, Dad and Bob — from the Holy City of Benares on the Granges. I could not resist here buying some beautiful silk with gold and silver threads, a saree and several scarves. I'll be sending them home as gifts when we can get them properly wrapped.

We went from there to Calcutta, where we stayed in a Sikh Temple for nothing and then made the two-day train trip to Bombay where we have been for more than a week now. Here we are in a YMCA and have both light and a table for the first time since Benares. Bombay is a beautiful and interesting city where we could even live. We are leaving for Goa and then Madras where we hope to get our transportation straightened out at least as far as Singapore. Then since the first ship we can possibly get on leaves Madras on March 27th, we are going down to Ceylon for a few weeks of beaching, sunning and gem searching. We expect our Australian immigration visas to be waiting for us when we get back to Madras. Then we hope to find a cheap way to get the 6000 miles to Southern Australia where we will look for work. Our plan is to take coastal steamer hops along the Indonesian Islands to Timor. They say we can get a ship for $20 to Darwin. From Darwin it is supposed to be possible to catch a bush through the Australian rish and deserts with a truck!

Later from Colombo on Ceylon. We leave here today on a straight through train — ferry — train trip to Madras where, if we're lucky, we get our ship, the t.s.s. State of Madras, which sails for Penang the 16th of March. We are getting one ferry too late for safety from Ceylon because we climbed Adam's Peak (7300 feet of stairs) and we missed our connecting train. There are only two ferries a week. But we hope we will make it somehow. We have paid our fare and have our tickets. Until Singapore, Love to everybody.

SEA OTTERS

Trying to spot sea otters while driving along the Pacific Coast is hardly what one calls an easy pastime.

There just aren't that many of them around anymore.

From Baja, California to the straits of Juan de Fuca in Washington, that California sea otter once flocked in large numbers. That was once.

But now? Thanks to the activities of fur hunters during the last century and early 1900's, this welcome visitor came nearly extinct.

At present, the population stands at less than 700 animals in the waters off southern Monterey County and northern San Luis Obispo County.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

Sports Season Enters Big Month

The final month of the sports season started right after Easter vacation. All the major teams are now preparing for their most important contests, including league championships in baseball, golf and track.

Latest track results show several Stevenson boys making outstanding contributions to the "coming" sport on campus. (Up from 13 boys three years ago to 65 today). In recent varsity competition we have seen strong performances from Bob Bardin and Willis Cook in hurdles, along with Mike Bohman. Bill Kletch and Mark Farber have been doing well in the middle distances, with Mark making an exceptional showing at Pacific Grove two weeks ago as he won the 880 by 30 yards. Greg Wilson and Scott Bullen have been holding down the sprints for the green and white, while Don Hart and Mike Gianscol have done well in the 440, with Hart taking two very strong finishes in his last races in spite of illness. The surprise of the year has been Tom Brown who continues to show remarkable progress in the two-mile run, taking first against King City, the Central California Power-House. Mark Stevenson and Don Hickok, the Cross Country champs, have given the two milers a real 1-2-3 punch. Steven Russell and Tim Donahoe have proved to be top milers, with Russell giving a tremendous effort in his last race in spite of illness.

The field event men have been very strong this season as Tim Talbot, William Kondrat, West Clark and Joel Harrise, along with Jim Russell, have been scoring in every meet. Jeff Erlandson, Mike Eberley and Ken Dillon have proven strong in the jumps, with Eberley taking the most firsts just ahead of lighting-fast Erlandson. George Winters and Mike Rieley have also helped, along with Bill Jackson.

The light-weights, led by all-league Sam Perkins, have proven to be one of the top track teams in Central California. Losing only two of 9 matches, they have shown a great deal of spirit and team effort. Some outstanding performances include the sprinting of Sam Perkins along with Steve Hyde and Lloyd Taylor. Brent Lloyd is the fourth man in the sprints and also the hurdles, to give the team a top relay effort in every meet (undefeated). Pierre Saviers and Al Jensen have been coming along as hurdles, along with John Sharon. Ed Loescher has made a remarkable improvement as an 880 man, and Rick Johnson and Mike Erlich are tops in the 440, with Erlich doing some sensational running in the mile-relays. John and Joe Todd have dominated the 2-mile, along with help from Ken Drummond. Ralph Keeley, in addition to being the assistant manager, has proven a top miler, backed by Ken Rich. Top field event showings have been given by Steve Laney in both the high jump and pole vault. Rick Johnson and Bill Rawson

Community Hospital Begins Expansion

BULLDOZER clears land on south side of Community Hospital in preparation of expansion of the hospital.

Caution Urged At Hospital

Visitors and patients driving to Community Hospital are urged to use caution because of heavy construction equipment now working there.

Preliminary construction work for Project '69, the plan to double the floor space of the hospital, is now underway.

Bulldozers are clearing the way for an expanded parking area and construction is progressing on enclosing fire stairs and landscaping the court on the east corner of the hospital. Trucks are hauling fill from the south side of the hospital where Project '69 will begin to an area adjacent to the existing parking lot on the north side of the hospital.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERMON

The Lesson-Sermon to be read this Sunday in all Christian Science churches is titled "Doctrine of Atonement." It includes this verse from John: "For God sent not his son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

Among passages to be read from the denomination textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following: "Every pang of repentance and suffering, every effort for reform, every good thought and deed, will help us to understand Jesus' atonement for sin and aid its efficacy; but if the sinner continues to pray and repent, sin and be sorry, he has little part in the atonement, — in the at-one-ment with God, — for he lacks the practical repentance, which reforms the heart and enables men to do the will of wisdom."

Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monte Verde and Sixth, Carmel, begin at 11:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. Public is invited.

Gregore Patton Goes to Viet Nam

Marine Lance Corporal Gregory H. Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Patton of Carmel, has reported for duty with Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron - 13, Marine Aircraft Group-13, First Marine Aircraft Wing at Chu Lai, Vietnam.

Lt. Blanks Now A Ranger

Second Lieutenant Herbert E. Blanks, 25, son of councilman and Mrs. Herbert B. Blanks, completed the Army Infantry School's ranger course March 7 at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The nine-week course is designed to develop exceptional endurance in the infantry soldier as well as teach him the skills of field craft, jungle survival and special amphibious operations.

Lt. Blanks entered the Army in May 1966.

He received his B.A. degree in 1966 from the University of California at Berkeley, and is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Constant Visitor . . .

To Carmel told the PINE CONE, "The first thing I do after we're settled in our motel, is go out and get your paper. Then I read it cover to cover and get caught up on what's going on here."

where the daily catch was being taken, and in fifteen minutes sketch the brilliant colors of the brinish denizens before they faded!

Earlier this 1889 year, Robert Louis Stevenson and his family had come from Samoa to Honolulu to visit the Strongs. The king was already an appreciative reader of R.L.S.'s books, and the author further endeared himself to the Hawaiian monarch by making his famous visit to the leper colony on the island of Molokai.

The three men above are probably discussing an expedition Kalakaua was about to send to the South Seas to propose a Polynesian federation. Joe Strong was appointed its artist, and shortly after the picture was taken he left on the Equator with Stevenson and his family for the Gilbert Islands.

Isabel Strong was not with the expedition. She and her young son joined the family later in Samoa, but the Strong marriage soon dissolved. She stayed on at Vaillima actin gas amanuensis to the famous writer until his death there in 1894. Joe Strong had returned to San Francisco, where he remained until he died in 1899.

Lawn Party for Dogs Slated

April 30 is the date set aside for the annual Carmel Lawn Party for dogs. In other words, this is the day for all pet owners to take advantage of the reduced fees for rabies shots and dog license.

Those who choose to come to the Police Station on Junipero and 4th between 10-12 April 30, can have the shots administered and license issued for a grand total of $4.00, a considerable savings.

The Lawn Party for Dogs began many years ago when our own Dr. Doolittle, City Finance Officer Art Plaxton, swapped stories with the dogs, acted as receptionist, and offered treats to the "good" patients... that is until the day a little Pekingese bit him, "Then I knocked it off," Art said looking down at his hand. When asked if he would once again offer the goodies to his friends, Art said, "Not unless I have a steel mash glove."

But, anyway, they will still have their party and will congregate at the Police Station between 10-12 on April 30. The event is sponsored by the Monterey County Health Department under the auspices of Dr. Caswell, veterinarian.

According to Art, the Monterey County is still classified as a rabies area, and this immunization of our domestic pets is to build up a barrier between animal and human life. Skunks and foxes are the most common carriers of rabies. "As a matter of fact," Art pointed out, "a group of PG&E men were chased around their job recently by a fox until someone caught him with a shovel."

All-Year-School Committee

Point Lobos said, "It reflects an America almost gone, but we should keep it alive." "The old addition," she said, "cost only $3500 because the parents in the cooperative nursery contributed labor, material and money."

"My father rebuilt it in 1908—the Odello boys went there—the teachers lived at our home," she continued. "It was a rare privilege to have gone there. The bats used to squeak, but it didn't bother us. A frame building is the most earthquake proof of any, and the school should be shored up."

Cole Weston, a nursery school father, described the modern, earthquake-proof brick high school he attended in Long Beach which split wide open during the earthquake there. "The board and batten house we lived in swayed and rocked, swayed and rocked, but it was undamaged."

Kathie Nolan, a nursery school mother of three, added, "In addition to its beauty and sentimental value, the school room is extremely functional."

Supt. Dr. Harris Taylor said "It is important that we not take a giant step backwards by dropping the nursery school operation for lack of funds."

Letters from Amantha O'Neill and Mr. and Mrs. Loomis, parent members, were read saying that they would be willing to do anything including fund raising to preserve this historical and sentimental landmark.

Rosa Doner, director of the school pointed out that it would cost over $50,000 to build a new school or $30,000, a movable one. "If it could be done piecemeal, we might be able to raise funds by our carnival and other ways."

John H. Gamble, Carmel engineer, said he had looked over the building with Mr. Howard Carter, and felt that it could be reclaimed.

Walter Hinton, district business manager, pointed out that a levy of a special override tax of about two cents per hundred dollars could be levied without election, and that the decision, not the actual action, must be made prior to September 13, 1968.

Upshot was that the board voted to appoint a committee to get cost estimates of reconstruction, work out a plan of financing the building, and a construction schedule. Board president Neill called for volunteers and Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Nolan and board member Richard Wildon, who has a child in the nursery school, agreed to serve.

New Council Welcomed

Mayor Grant read at Tuesday's meeting, he was "instrumental in achieving the start of Phase I of the new Civic Center at Junipero and 4th, and in his term as Mayor he saw it reach completion, with the dedication and opening of the new Police and Public Works facilities." It went on to praise his many new and constructive ideas including the formation of committees to study parking and traffic problems and the merging of the Sunset and Arts Commissions into the Carmel Cultural Commission. The resolution received a standing vote.

The Council then adjourned until their next meeting in May.

The Rollo Paynes Are Back

Rollo Payne and his wife Margery just returned from a three weeks trip to South America. Their trip began in San Francisco aboard the SS Statendam.

They stopped at Los Angeles, Curacao, Kingston and Montego Bay via the Panama Canal which impressed them as clearly entitled to the title of "Eighth Wonder of the World." From Montego Bay they flew to Dallas, Texas for two days before completing the trip home.

Being a Carmel Rotary Club member, Mr. Payne was pleased to be able to make up his attendance at meetings aboard ship, in Curacao and Montego Bay.

Eben Whittlesey's Guide Dog Dead

After almost ten years of sensitive guidance, Regan, female German Shepherd, belonging to Eben Whittlesey, is dead of a terminal ailment. She came from Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael.

In order to replace her, Mr. Whittlesey will have to spend a month in San Rafael working with the trainer of another dog in a class of eight to twelve people. It is a retaining process in which the dog must transfer his affection from the trainer with whom he has trained for three months, to his new master.

They work together twice a day, and spend a couple of days each week in San Francisco.

Mr. Whittlesey will enter the next class at Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael on April 28. This is the fourth time he will have trained a dog, once in New Jersey, and three times here.

Redwoods Conservation Film To Be Shown

ing of the last remaining stands of virgin trees, now proposed as national parks, and currently threatened by engulfing chain saws. The film is a recent one and has been nominated for an Academy Award.
